

ENTRO™

Antimicrobial Dosing System

The Entro delivery module is the most advanced antimicrobial dosing system on the market today. Entro systems give you unprecedented control over your food safety process. As product throughput and water flow fluctuate during the day, Entro automatically adjusts to deliver the precise amount of antimicrobial needed. The simplicity of Entro reduces labor costs while the security features prevent unauthorized changes. When paired with MARC, Entro systems can be monitored and adjusted remotely and performance data can be analyzed.
