

MARC is a real-time data monitoring, collection, and analysis platform that enables superior management of food safety processes. MARC's simple and secure interface allows users to view all of their Safe Foods systems remotely and run customized reports on usage and system performance. MARC's Time Travel feature can be used to investigate positive pathogen tests, reducing the likelihood of future issues. MARC mitigates food safety risk by immediately sending alerts to designated users when an issue needs to be addressed. MARC simplifies food safety management by providing the data needed to make informed decisions.
